FRIENDS OF INDIANA DUNES

The Calumet Trail is a 9.2-mile trail designed for bicycling, jogging, hiking and cross-country skiing. It lies adjacent to Indiana Dunes State Park and passes through Indiana Dunes National Lakeshore, providing a link to several points of interest.

The Calumet Trail was developed on land leased from the Northern Indiana Public Service Company. It lies within the company's utility corridor, and was developed with the assistance of the Northern Indiana Public Service Company and the National Park Service.

CALUMET TRAIL

INDIANA

INDIANA DUNES STATE PARK

Indiana Dunes State Park means primitive, beautiful, historic and amazing landscape, unique in the Hoosier state.

With more than 3 miles of beautiful beach along Lake Michigan's southern shore, the park's 2,182 acres are located at the north end of State Road 49 in Porter County.

In the early 1900s, scientists, recreationists and nature enthusiasts, recognizing the value and potential of the area, fought to have the region preserved. As a result, in 1925, the state park was established. This is a special place. We hope you'll take the time to explore its many fascinating features.

All alcoholic beverages are prohibited within the boundaries of Indiana Dunes State Park. Fines or arrest could occur for violations.

The Indiana Dunes area also is renowned throughout the Midwest for its birding. Visit the Nature Center to ask about good birding locations.

Indiana Dunes State Park is surrounded by Indiana Dunes National Lakeshore, a federally administered park comprising approximately 15,000 acres. For more information about the National Lakeshore, write: Indiana Dunes National Lakeshore, 1100 N. Mineral Springs Rd., Porter, IN 46304-1299; or call (219) 926-7561.

Other interesting features include "tree graveyards" (places where forests have been buried by sand and then, more recently, re-exposed by wind erosion). "Tree graveyards" can be seen in Big Blowout, near Trail 10.

The dunes provide an opportunity to explore an exciting and ever-changing landscape. In several areas, huge "living" or "moving" dunes are slowly being blown inland, burying forests as they go. A prime example can be seen from Trail 9.

Indiana Dunes State Park features a wide variety of habitats, including beach, sand dunes, black oak forest, wooded wetlands, and a button-bush marsh. Together, these areas contain some of the most diverse flora and fauna in the Midwest. Botanists from across the country enjoy studying the unusual collection of plant life. In fact, it was here, that Henry Cowles, known to many as the "father of ecology" did his landmark studies of succession in the early 1900s. As a result of his work, Indiana Dunes became known as "the birthplace of ecology."

During the summer season, a beach pavilion provides shelter, restrooms with outside showers only, a snack bar, and gift shop.

Visitors can enjoy Indiana Dunes State Park in a wide variety of ways. A campground, many picnic shelters and picnic areas, more than 16 miles of hiking trails, a swimming beach, and the Nature Center are available for visitors' use and are operated with visitor safety in mind.

It should be noted that one of the purposes for the park is to protect and preserve this rare landscape. Many sensitive plants and animals live on the dunes and are easily affected by erosion caused by foot traffic and other activities. Hiking in areas other than marked trails or designated areas is prohibited.
